WOLFE COUNTY.

Flat Facts.

Levi Couch moved to his farm in Owsley county last week.

Mrs. Ellice Congleton has been very ill with fever, but at this writing is convalescing.

Died, on the 14th inst., Suvilla Shackelford. Her remains were interred in the Shackelford cemetery.

Religious services were held at Antioch on Sunday, the 14th inst., by Rev. Millard Stamper. The rite of baptism was administered by immersion to 9 applicants.

J. N. Sword is preparing to build a tobacco barn. Next year he will plant 8 or 9 acres of tobacco. He would be glad, Mr. Cooper, if you would have that railroad built by the time he gets his tobacco ready for market.

The railroad talk has revived in this section, and is leaping from tongue to tongue with wild-fire rapidity. G. Taulbee has been cutting a road from his store to the mouth of Devil's creek, so that the engineers can look out the route. Devil's creek is quite rough from its mouth to Taulbee's store, a distance of a few miles, but the descent is not very great, and consequently the grade would be nothing. There is plenty of fine timber and all the stone needed, and more too, along the creek; besides the finest stone coal abounds in unlimited quantities, consequently our best railroad prophets on this side predict that the road will be made from Beattyville junction up the river to Devil's creek, up Devil's creek and down Stillwater to Hazel Green, thence to Walnut Grove.

Lane Locals.

Planting corn is the order of the day.

Another wedding to report soon if it don rain.

Judge Lindon passed through here Thursday en route home from Campton.

The firm of J. R. Elkins & Co. have employed Robert L. Miller as clerk for an unlimited time.

On the 24th inst., at noon, Wm. Hollon's barn was burned to the ground. The fire blew from the building and set fire to the fence of John H. Terrill, destroying about 75 panels. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin.

On the night of the 22d inst., the dwelling house, cook room, dining room and lumber house of Louis Hatton were entirely destroyed by fire; also about 75 bushels of corn and 25 bushels. All the family had gone to preaching except Mrs. Hatton and her baby, who narrowly escaped with their lives. Mr. Hatton is one of our best farmers, and the citizens will doubtless help him to get in shape again.

SHANGHAI.

John Miller and wife, a recently married couple, have gone to housekeeping. John says he don't want any spoons; he can make paddles.

Ben Hatton, jr., has moved to the farm of J. A. Sewell, and will step "high and low" this season.

"Shanghai" is a full fledged candidate for matrimony, and being busy in his canvass, has prevailed on me to write.

Rev. Taulbert Vancleve preached at the residence of Caloway King Sunday last, admonishing the lost sheep to turn their heads toward heaven.

Prayer meeting is held on Holly as follows: At the Pence Branch schoolhouse Wednesday night; at the Bailey Field schoolhouse on Thursday night; at the Kuntung Fork schoolhouse on Sunday night.

Harden Hurst goes to Big Frozen frequently, but he can't "Cope" with her on the subject of love as he would like to do. Jim Williams goes there, too, and he says that he can "Cope" with her on anything with perfect ease.

Logan Gose is teaching the boys and girls how to sing "hymns of a lofty cheer." He expects them to have to help sing "Billy" Hollon's epithalamium ere long, and wants them to do full justice to themselves on the occasion.

Your scribe attended court last week. While there he saw a Carr, but to his regret it was not a steam car, but it was one of those kind of Carr's that tries to get another one built of a different type in Morgan county by "dreaming" things that will never come to pass.

These lines are untrue: "The happiest life that was ever led Is always to court and never to wed," For, on the 20th inst., at the residence of James Banks, Taylor Landsaw was married to Miss Sarah Hatton, Rev. Wm. Baker officiating. May the smiles of their conjugal felicity compensate the frowns of fortune.

THE HERALD is a welcome visitor at Lane. It is here regarded as the model newspaper—clean, enterprising, high-toned, chivalrous, courageous and complete. This achievement in modern journalism in the face of the pruriency and demand for the sensational, characterizing largely the public sentiment of Eastern Kentucky, is due solely and alone to the intelligent foresight, the indomitable will and unflinching courage of Spencer Cooper.

Ezel Evolutions.

Prof. Tap is instructing a class in vocal music at this place.

J. F. Lockhart sold one of his thoroughbred horses recently, but we did not learn the price and particulars.

John Rice and wife were in town last week and sold their property here to Dr. A. B. Nickell for $500, and the doctor will move into his new home this week.

I have just returned from Campton, and the way that Wolfe county people are shaping legislative politics makes me feel just like I was going to dream again.

T. N. Barker, while operating a planing machine last week, got one of his fingers cut off and two others badly cut. The accident was caused by a boy who was assisting in elevating one end of a plank, which caused the other end to catch his hand and force it against the knife.

It seems that the boys in the little towns over the country are determined to make their mark for downright meanness. In Campton it is dangerous to be out at night, as the boys get their whiskey and pistols and then take the town by shooting promiscuously on the streets. In Hazel Green they organize at night and slip into their neighbor's yards and cut down shade trees. Here in Ezel they "bunch" their money and then steal out a horse and send one of the crowd after whiskey. This has been done more than a few times. Only last week a good young horse belonging to J. M. Pieratt was taken and rode so unmercifully that it has been about dead ever since and its recovery is now very doubtful. Solomon said that if a child was trained right it would live right; and he said something about using a rod, too. But that don't work now, for then a boy just large enough to whip is now considered a man.

BLURT.

Maytown Missiles.

Elder Dunagan is on the sick list.

James Boling moved to Jackson last week.

Lum Pieratt was in town Sunday the guest of A. P. Dye.

Wm. M. Boling, of Jackson, was in town last week, and subscribed to THE HERALD.

L. T. Boling has moved to Jackson and is now foreman of a pump factory at that place.

The farmers of this section are behind with their work, but with plenty of good weather and hard work, we think they will come through all right.

We are sorry to chronicle the death of Mrs. John Day, which occurred near this place last Thursday. Our sympathies are extended to the bereaved family.

It seems as though the long expected spring has come in earnest. Let us hope so, at least, regardless of the fact that Easter Sunday hatched out several little storms of rain, snow and hail.

In a private letter from our young friend, James H. Swango, of Danville, to J. C. Swango, of our town, he says that he is in the legislative race to win. Jimmie is a young man that has been industrious and studious, and one that Morgan and Wolfe would love to honor, as honor is all that there will be in the 60-day session; and if he can succeed in getting us a good road law, we will say well done thou good and faithful servant, etc.

WINGLESS.

The Protracted Meeting.

The series of meetings conducted by Rev. W. S. Willis, of North Middletown, Ky., in the Christian church, at this place, were closed on last Monday evening. The attendance from the beginning was very good indeed—often the house was well filled. Rev. Willis proved himself to be a very proficient proclaimer and expounder of "the faith once delivered to the saints." He is undoubtedly the best pulpit reasoner that has visited Hazel Green for some time; and while his sermons were well studied, yet he gave them to his waiting audiences from a heart that really feels the need of a dying Savior's love for humanity. His sermons were upon popular themes that were good for both saint and sinner; and while he believes from his heart "that form of doctrine delivered by inspired men, as set forth in the New Testament," and his whole life is centered upon it, his sermons were such as would not give offense to those of other faiths. His stay in our midst has built up the cause of Christ in this town and community beyond the expectations of the most sanguine, and the seeds have been sown that will bring forth an abundant harvest with the Lord, some forty, some sixty, and some an hundred fold. There were 87 accessions to the church, 24 of whom were by primary obedience, 3 by statement, 1 from the Baptists, and 9 by acknowledgments of wrongs committed. Mr. Willis left for his home Tuesday morning, via Torrent. His church at North Middletown kindly allowed him the time to conduct this meeting, and he graciously gave his labors, and the church here paid his traveling expenses. It is well for our friends of the bluegrass to come among us, especially as did he, and we always extend a ready and hearty welcome to all such, and will assist as best we can to build up the cause in our midst.

WM. H. COOP.

Burned to Death.

A hearse left Dehoney & Graham's undertaking establishment, in Frankfort, at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Inside was one coffin containing the remains of all three—father and two little children—of the Yeager family, who perished in the fire last Thursday night. Accompanying the family and their friends were Rev. W. B. Taylor, of Mr. Darsie's church, and Rev. F. S. Pollitt, of the Methodist church. The remains were taken to Graffensburg, or Hardinsville, in the edge of Shelby county, where the Yeager's formerly lived, and were buried there in one grave.

The survivors of the fire, who were left not only penniless and homeless, but without even household effects or clothing, are being looked after by home people. Some of them are still in sore need, and any contribution of help can be turned over to Mrs. Dr. James, the treasurer of the King's Daughters, to whom the Gordon fund and other contributions have already been delivered.

Judge G. B. Swango, the register of the land office, and his family, with the characteristic goodness of "mountain people," were among the many who were especially kind to the victims of the fire. They took in one of the families, fixed a room for them, and cared for them for days as if they were members of the family.—Frankfort Capital.

Witnesses in the Combs Murder Case.

Detective George Drake passed through here Saturday morning having in charge two important witnesses in the Fields-Adkins case now on trial at Barbourville, and for whom attachments had been sent to him to serve. The persons in question were Mrs. Combs, widow of the noted "Shade" Combs, and Ben Thomas. Their testimony is expected to be very sensational, as they took care of Sam Frazier, the outlaw pal of fields and Adkins, when he was shot by the officers soon after the cowardly murder of Judge Combs.—Lexington Leader.

James Dupont has been arrested in the Indian Territory for the murder of Lewis Lang, at Cynthia, Ky., in 1890.
